

Vietnam's GDP growth is driven by is driven by export-oriented manufacturing and services such as transport, tourism, and wholesale and retail trade. The country is a top exporter of textiles and garment, seafood, and electronics, especially computers.

Government / Agencies	What You'll Find Here
Vietnam's Government Portal	The official portal of the Vietnamese government provides news, policies, and strategic plans. Investors can access information on economic development, trade strategies, legal frameworks, and links to business registration and investment support resources.
National Statistics Office (NSO)	Vietnam's official statistics portal offering economic, trade, demographic, and labor data. Investors can access up-to-date reports on GDP, CPI, trade performance, and socio-economic trends to support market analysis and investment decisions.
Ministry of Planning and Investment (MPI)	This website serves as a key resource for international stakeholders, particularly foreign investors, seeking to understand Vietnam's economic policies, investment environment, and development priorities. Investors can find a wide range of relevant content, including legal frameworks, investment conditions, FDI statistics and trends, strategic sectors and development plans.
Vietnam's Trade Information Portal	The Vietnam Trade Portal is an official platform that provides clear, up-to-date information on trade regulations, customs procedures, tariffs, and free trade agreements. It helps investors and businesses understand import-export requirements, navigate compliance, and leverage Vietnam's trade policies and international agreements for smoother market access.
Ministry of Transport (MOT)	The Ministry of Transport's website offers insights into Vietnam's transport infrastructure policies, development plans, and regulatory frameworks. Investors can find information on major infrastructure projects, transport sector reforms, and opportunities in logistics, aviation, maritime, and road development—key areas for investment and public-private partnerships.