1. Where do I get information on how to ship a package?

- Find out everything you need to know before you ship any package through our comprehensive online Tools for Shipping.

2. How do I change the delivery address for my shipment?

- Change of delivery address in the same destination country or territory is possible with an additional fee, which may be incurred if a new air waybill is needed for an intra-country transition.
- If you are the SG consignee of the shipment, a shipper's authorization may be required depending on the commodity type and shipment declared value.

- For outbound shipments --- Reroute does not cover change of delivery address other than the city indicated on the AWB. If you request to change the delivery address from one city to another city, it is not simply a reroute but a redirection of the shipment and a new shipment with additional shipping charges will be applied. The Shipper's authorization is required.
- No matter if it is an inbound or outbound shipment, change of delivery address is an exception service and we can not make any assurances in their execution.
