FedEx®

Solution Overview

Our enterprise application is highly configurable, so it can be exactly tailored to specific needs, and includes a self-serve kiosk option and a portal for managing all corporate locations. This solution requires a minimal amount of training and experience to operate.

PostalMate® Flex for Enterprise is a cloud-based solution designed especially for large multi-location retail sites. It was created to meet the rapidly growing demand for more efficient management of incoming HAL (hold at location) packages. The solution comprises a desktop app and a companion Android mobile app. There is a web portal for configuration management, reporting and business analytics for managing all corporate locations. PostalMate® Flex can be configured to exactly meet the needs of an enterprise client, including shipping and a self-serve kiosk option. It requires a minimal amount of training and experience.
