

Take the new normal to the next level— with a branding experience that inspires.

As restrictions are lifted, your event attendees will be eager to get back to normal—but why settle for normal? Consult our experts for unique ideas that put your brand in position to motivate and resonate. From large hanging banners and elevator wraps to small promotional items like water bottles, pens and coffee sleeves, take advantage of every surface. Keep in mind you may still need materials that provide safety information—like social distancing seat decals or sanitizing station signs. When you choose a venue with a FedEx Office on property, you can have all this and more ready when you arrive.

Ready to take your event to the next level? Then take the next step. Request a consultation today. Or go to fedex.com/intheknow to learn more.

