

FedEx Office® Business Solutions

Connect to the Possibilities

“We loved the chemistry and the alliance with FedEx Office. It’s been a phenomenal experience.”

— William Sullivan, Senior Director of Education Services, NACHA (the Electronics Payment Association)

Ready to differentiate your brand? Let's find business solutions to help make that happen.

Staying competitive tops your list of wants — along with faster speed to market, improved ROI and a customer experience that's second to none. We hear you. We understand that improving performance all along your branding and communications chain is critical.

We'll collaborate to achieve creative, agile solutions that align with your strategic business goals and directions. These solutions start with the advantages of a uniquely global printing and shipping network.

Every day, we create custom business strategies for companies like yours. Our tools streamline your process and provide breakthrough results. Imagine your brand on an upward trajectory.

Depend on our business solutions to provide you with:

Accessibility. Whenever, wherever you need it.

Security. Your information will always be confidential and safe.

Efficiencies. Save time and money.

Customization. Scaled to fit your needs.

Sustainability. Green printing and shipping options and practices.

“We empower our customers by delivering more services, capabilities and value than they thought possible. FedEx Office is their surprise advantage.”

— Aimee DiCicco, SVP, FedEx Office sales

Tell us what you need printed. We'll find a more efficient way to make it happen.

If you're looking for ways to streamline your printing processes, we've got the map. We'll help you build more-efficient strategies. Our network allows us the flexibility to print materials and send them to multiple locations anywhere in the country, or even globally, with speed and accuracy.

With our distributed print service and intelligent job routing, we print closer to your delivery points. We handle a variety of quick-turn solutions, including:

- Recurring: Receive printed materials on a regular schedule to support your ongoing needs.

- Just-in-time: Count on quick-turn printing and distribution, especially effective for signs, posters and flyers.
- Multiple-document: Print, package and deliver multiple documents so they arrive together.

Streamline your projects and minimize logistical complexities.

Get to know FedEx Office distributed print — it's a network of 15+ closed-door centralized print production facilities, tens of thousands digitally connected printers, and a team of dedicated experts who manage your production in real time. The result? You gain faster speed to market and reduce transit times and transportation costs. Our print specialists will make the smart, expedient decision to meet your deadline and budget.

Here's how it works

Your order is sent to a centralized processing location where our logistics experts will help decide the most efficient route for your printing. Based on these efficiencies, your order may take one of two routes:

Your customized printing route will balance workloads and help you cut days and dollars out of your production cycle.

The solutions you need, conveniently on location.

Gain a true competitive advantage with a fully functional FedEx Office center at your headquarters, on campus or near your location. It's possible with FedEx® OnCampus. We integrate with your business, university or hospital to provide flexible, scalable services including managed print and parcel and mail management. Smart advantages include:

- True scalability. Pay only for what you use. Reduce over- and under-staffing, over-printing and obsolescence.
- Lower costs of ownership. Reduce spending on maintenance, supplies, leases and labor.
- Saving space. Free up valuable resources and square footage once devoted to printing.

- More speed and efficiency with seamless access to our extensive printing distribution and shipping network.

Let us help you meet your goals and solve your challenges. From reducing costs and controlling spending to increasing efficiencies, you'll find endless benefit from FedEx OnCampus solutions.
