

Lighten your budget. Not your load.

It pays to be flexible. If your large-volume, less-than-truckload (LTL) freight shipment isn't in a rush, you can get low rates by taking advantage of unused truckload space. Hefty freight doesn't have to mean hefty rates.

FedEx Freight® volume services* has several speed and pricing options to help you move your larger-volume shipments. And if you want your LTL load to travel solo, ask about our Exclusive Use option.

Bigger freight. Better rates.

Moving heavier and/or larger-than-normal LTL shipments can be expensive. Plus, that hunt for a reliable, affordable carrier can burn up a lot of valuable time. We offer extensive coverage throughout the contiguous U.S. and between direct points in Canada for large shipments, and we can provide low-rate quotes in most cases. Pricing is based on available space on our trailers, not freight class, allowing us to help you cut costs.

What qualifies for FedEx Freight volume services

- Shipments must weigh between 4,000 lbs. and 44,000 lbs., or require at least 10 ft. (up to 56 ft., or two full pup trailers) of trailer space
- Shipments may not:
 - Deliver to a residential area
 - Require temperature control
 - Deliver to conventions, exhibitions, or trade shows
 - Contain stopoffs
 - Require liftgates
 - Require cash on delivery

Simply tell us about your LTL shipment, and choose from our three volume service options. That way, you're paying only for the speed and space you need.
