

FedEx Express® Billable Stamps

Frequently Asked Questions

Using FedEx Express Billable Stamps is an easy, cost-effective way to manage returns and other inbound FedEx Express® shipments. For more about how these preprinted labels work, and how they may help you control costs, consider these frequently asked questions.

How do FedEx Express Billable Stamps work?

FedEx Express Billable Stamps are FedEx® shipping labels preprinted with your return address. Simply include the preprinted label with your outbound package or send the label to your customer once the return is initiated. The FedEx Express Billable Stamp takes the place of an airbill and lets you control delivery speed and cost. Shipment weight is determined by the courier at the time of pickup.

What are the advantages of using FedEx Express Billable Stamps?

Because you determine the delivery service in advance, you take control of your inbound packages. The stamps cost nothing if they are not used. And the label does not display your account number, so your information stays secure.

The preprinted labels are available for FedEx Priority Overnight®, FedEx Standard Overnight®, FedEx 2Day® A.M. and FedEx 2Day® services in all 50 states, including Alaska and Hawaii.

Is Saturday delivery available with FedEx Express Billable Stamps?

Yes, choose FedEx Express Expanded Billable Stamps for Monday through Saturday delivery. Select FedEx Priority Overnight or FedEx 2Day (1-lb. minimum) service. (Saturday delivery is not available with FedEx Standard Overnight or FedEx 2Day® A.M. service.)

When can I expect inbound packages to arrive with FedEx Express Expanded Billable Stamps?

Shipments tendered on Friday with FedEx Priority Overnight or Thursday with FedEx 2Day are delivered on Saturday. An extra charge applies. Shipments tendered on a day other than Thursday or Friday arrive on the normally scheduled business day.

What if I don't want to accept deliveries on Saturday?

Choose the weekday delivery stamp for Monday through Friday delivery. Shipments tendered anytime during the week are delivered on their normally scheduled business day.
