Which Web Service do you intend to use?

Office Order Web Service

Designed for companies seeking to manage the customer's end-to-end print purchase work flow by sending orders directly to FedEx Office for fulfillment.

Please briefly describe your company and your company's intended use of FedEx Web Service for Office and Print.

I understand and agree that any orders placed via the FedEx Office Print Online application in association with any use of my FedEx Web Service for Office and Print integration solution – including the testing, troubleshooting, certification, or general use of the solution and regardless of whether “test” or “production” credentials are employed – will be considered production (live) orders. I further understand and agree that any such orders will be received, fulfilled, and billed accordingly by FedEx to the purchaser of record.
